Federal Disaster Assistance Is for Nebraska Renters, Too

Housing Resources for Disaster Survivors

The State of Nebraska is leading a Housing Task Force in partnership with FEMA and other agencies to address housing shortages and unmet needs in Nebraska communities affected by flooding. A fact sheet listing resources is posted on FEMA's disaster web page: fema.gov/disaster/4420.

Check Permit Requirements Before Rebuilding

It is important for Nebraskans to check with local building authorities about local or state permits that may be necessary before starting reconstruction. These may include building permits, floodplain development permits, permits for repair of septic systems, and others. To find out what state permits may be required, please visit the Nebraska Department of Natural Resources at dnr.nebraska.gov/floodplain for a list of local floodplain management contacts.

Rumor: FEMA contractors are going door to door to sign people up to fix their homes.

Fact: FEMA does not send building or repair contractors. The job of a FEMA housing inspector is to verify damage. FEMA does not hire or endorse specific contractors to fix homes or recommend repairs. If someone comes to your door and says that your home is unsafe, do not believe them and do not let them in. An unethical contractor may actually create damage to get the work. When in doubt, report any suspicious behavior to your local authorities.

*Obtaining permits, prior to construction, is the responsibility of the project applicant.
See Nebraska Emergency Management Agency guidelines here.*

Understanding Your FEMA Letter

If you applied for assistance from FEMA, you will receive a letter in the mail or via email that explains the status of your application and how to respond. It is important to read the letter carefully. Your letter will include the amount of any assistance FEMA may provide and information on the appropriate use of disaster assistance funds.

- If you have questions about the letter, you may go online to DisasterAssistance.gov; call the disaster assistance helpline at 800-621-3362 or 800-462-7585 (TTY).

FEMA Hiring Nebraskans to Work on Disaster Recovery

FEMA is hiring Nebraskans to help with recovery efforts. Anyone interested in temporary job opportunities should go to www.USAJobs.gov. The website is updated as new postings occur. Type “FEMA Local Hire” in the search box and put “Nebraska” in the location box.

Long-Term Recovery Help Grows for Nebraska Storm Survivors

- For property clean up contact the Crisis Clean Up Hotline: 833-556-2476
- For all other needs of assistance call Nebraska 211.
- To volunteer to help, please contact United Way of the Midlands. Click here to view, sign up and make someone's day brighter! In state, call 2-1-1 for questions (press option 6). Or

Keep your recovery options with U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) low-interest loans

SBA loans provide the largest source of long-term federal disaster recovery funds for survivors in a major disaster declaration. To ensure you are eligible for all federal assistance available to cover uninsured and under-insured losses, you should register with FEMA and apply online with SBA before the deadline. By submitting an initial application with SBA, you will keep the option open to obtain recovery funds that you may need.

Don't wait for insurance claims to be settled; it is not necessary to know how much money you may need. There is no cost to apply, or any obligation to accept funds if approved. SBA loan rates are as low as 2.063 percent for homeowners or renters, and as low as 4 percent for businesses.

Most homeowners and renters are automatically referred to apply with SBA, based on the information provided in their FEMA application. If SBA is unable to offer you a loan, you may be referred back to FEMA for potential additional grant assistance. Survivors who've been referred for low-interest loans with SBA and don't apply, will not be considered for these "other needs" grants from FEMA.

SBA has already approved $28.1 million for homeowners and renters and $3.9 million for businesses and private nonprofits in Nebraska to date. To apply online or for any questions, residents and businesses can visit SBA.gov/disaster, call SBA's Customer Service Center at 800-659-2955, or email disastercustomerservice@sba.gov. TTY users may call 800-877-8339.

ICC funds can help defray the costs of elevating, floodproofing, demolishing or relocating a residential structure. For more information contact your local floodplain administrator, NFIP at 800-427-4661, or your insurance agent.

BEWARE of FRAUD when Seeking DISASTER ASSISTANCE

Disaster Survivor Assistance Teams and home inspectors are often sent to rural areas to help disaster survivors, but not all individuals offering assistance are who they say they are.

Don't take a financial hit from scams during your recovery process!

BEFORE YOU ENGAGE, FOLLOW THESE TIPS:

-  FEMA representatives and inspectors from other agencies will always have identification.
-  Do NOT give cash. Government workers never ask for a fee or payment.
-  Do NOT give personally identifiable information over the phone.

If you believe you are the victim of fraud, contact the Disaster Fraud Hotline to report scams or fraud in your area.
